Weather Moderating After Frigid Blasts

(International News Service)

Temperatures climbed throughout the state after two days of cold intensified by biting March winds. In Pittsburgh, the weather bureau said the mercury would go up to around 40 degrees today. It was 21 in Pittsburgh at 9 a. m.
Blustery winds were the order of the night across the state but anticipated lows were not recorded. Harrisburg's official low point was 22 degrees, with a high for today predicted at 25.

First Reports In Y.M.C.A. Campaign Show 547 Members

A whirlwind beginning last night carried the two-day 1941 membership campaign of the Young Men's Christian Association well along the road to victory.
The 22 teams of volunteer solicitors reported at the "kick off" dinner in the Y that 547 members have been subscribed and $1,305 in cash accounted for. The goal is 800 members and about $2,000 in cash.

Report Again Tonight
Tonight at 6:15 the goal is expected to be topped when campaigners return to the same banquet hall for another report.
Formalities, so far as speaking and the usual program goes, were shelved Tuesday evening because General Chairman Richard E. Benty wanted to hear reports as quickly as possible. There wasn't one long speech.
The general chairman himself pared his remarks to the bone—he beckoned his co-workers to "dig in for the victory Wednesday night."

PA NEW OBSERVES

Displayed at the "News" office is an unusually sized egg, laid by a leghorn hen, owned by Mrs. Grace Cooper, of Volant. The egg measures 8 1/4 inches round the long way, and 6 inches the short way, and weighs four ounces.
This morning, a splendid specimen pair of robins flitted to and fro among the boughs of a large tree at the corner of East Washington street, and West Avenue. The morning sunshine showed up their plumage nicely. Possibly the pair are looking up a housekeeping site.

With a moderation of weather conditions during the night and the bright sunshine of this morning, it looks as if spring would make its debut on Thursday in something more like spring weather than was indicated earlier this week. The strong frigid blasts that swept over the district for several days came to an end during the night, and the temperature was rising today.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today are as follows:

House Is Ready To Adopt Seven Billion Aid Bill

Measure Is Slated To Get House Approval Sometime During Day

TALK INCREASES OF U. S. CONVOYS

President Is Silent On Rumors Of Convoy Plans By United States

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The house was slated to pass and send to the senate late today the $7,000,000,000 appropriation to provide aid to world democracies, as talk increased on convoying merchant ships to Britain by the American Navy.

Democratic House leaders, confident that the bill carrying the funds will be approved with less than 50 dissenting votes, announced that they would fight all weakening amendments.
"The bill will be passed and is all right as it is," said Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), in charge of the measure. "We will oppose amendments."
See Convoying Move
Some members of Congress who handle navy legislation declared privately that convoying of merchant ships to Britain, to foil Hitler's U-boats and planes, is inevitable. The American people, they argue, will not stand for lease-lend goods intended for Britain being sent to the bottom of the Atlantic.
President Roosevelt, however, continued to refuse to discuss rumors of convoy plans. Responsible aid (Continued On Page Two)

President On Southern Trip

Leaving Washington For Ten Day Cruise—Plans Not Revealed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Roosevelt moved to consolidate national defense and expedite British aid on four major fronts today before leaving Washington for Florida and a ten-day vacation cruise in southern waters.
Although the president has not yet revealed precise nature of his vacation plans, Florida reports say the yacht Potomac and the destroyer Benson are standing by at Port Everglades ready to cruise out into the Gulf stream. Jacksonville advisers say Mr. Roosevelt will pause there tomorrow to inspect the new $15,000,000 naval base.

Accompanying the chief executive in his quest for a little sunshine after weeks of grueling preparation for all out British aid will be Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, Harry Hopkins, Stephen T. Early and Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson. White House secretaries, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, and Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan, naval aide.
Although there may be some incidental defense inspection during the next 10 days, the party apparently is looking forward primarily to relaxation and fishing.

Still Deadlocked On Bus Proposal

Council And Street Car Company Officials Have Another Conference

Members of city council and New Castle Street Electric Railway company officials today are still deadlocked relative to the proposed cancellation of the railway company's franchise obligations here and proposed substitution of motor buses for street cars subject to the approval of the Public Utilities Commission. A difference as to what the railway company should pay the city for the privilege of escaping the franchise obligations exists.
According to Director of Streets William H. Dunlap, a new plan was broached to W. H. Muldoon, general manager of the company, yesterday.
He said the city requested the company to give the city a certain sum, the amount of which was not publicly stated, which Dunlap believes would be sufficient to resurface city maintained thoroughfares, curb to curb, where there are car lines, with amiesite. General Manager Muldoon said the sum was too large.
However, it was indicated prior to the adjournment of the informal meeting Tuesday that another conference may be held here.

The negotiations have been dragging slowly for a month or more. Various plans have been suggested only to be discarded by one or the other party.
During the last two sessions the proceedings concerned only streets kept up by the city.
The general indication in circles close to the conferees is that unless a compromise is reached there'll be no buses here this year.

MURRAY MAY SEEK TO END BUS STRIKE IN NEW YORK CITY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 19.—Philip Murray, national president of the CIO, today was scheduled to confer with Mayor F. H. LaGuardia in a renewed effort to settle New York City's 10-day-old transportation-paralyzing bus strike.
Murray apparently taking over the reins from the hands of the CIO's transport workers' union head, Michael Quill, arranged the conference after LaGuardia issued an ultimatum demanding that both employers and strikers submit to arbitration.

Arsenal Workers' Train Wrecked, Many Injured

Rammed by a fast freight train at Windham, O., a commuter train carrying more than 700 persons bound to the nearby Ravenna, O. government arsenal, was derailed, causing injury to more than 150 workers. An investigation was launched, although preliminary inspection revealed the wreck was due to "man failure". The $40,000,000 arsenal, in the progress of construction, is being built in line with the government defense program. Picture shows one of the crushed coaches lying upside down next to the freight train that rammed it. Most seriously injured victims were in this car.

Make Report On Ravenna Wreck

Army Board Of Inquiry Says "Human Failure" Caused Crash

REPORT 67 MEN STILL IN HOSPITALS

(International News Service)
RAVENNA, O., March 19.—A four-man army board of inquiry ruled today that the collision of an Erie freight train and a commuter train carrying 700 workers to the Ravenna arsenal was caused by negligence of railroad employees in carrying out orders.
The board investigated the possibility of sabotage, but found the accident due to "human failure". Meanwhile 67 of the many injured when the fast eastbound freight ploughed into the fifth car of the commuter as it backed into a spur on the arsenal reservation remained in hospitals.
Erie officials were to conduct their own investigation today and Interstate Commerce Commission investigators will join with state authorities in attempting to learn the exact cause of the wreck.
Snow and fog apparently blotted out the light of red flares put up by the crew of the commuter train as it backed onto the eastbound tracks and into the new spur siding leading to the ordinance plant.
The commuter was on the cross-over when the freight locomotive hit the fifth car from behind, derailing the five cars and toppling over three of them.
In the confusion of moving injured to hospitals in Youngstown, Akron, Warren and Ravenna it was reported an unidentified man had died, but a check of morgues showed there were no fatalities.

Heavy Damage Is Caused According To London And Berlin Reports

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, March 19.—Attacking in relays, R. A. F. bombers blasted the northern German ports of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven during the night and also poured bombs on oil tanks at the Nazi-occupied Netherlands City of Rotterdam, the air ministry announced today.
An official announcement said the main weight of the R. A. F. attacks were delivered against docks and industrial targets at Kiel and Wilhelmshaven and against the oil supplies stored at Rotterdam.
"Early large" R. A. F. bomber forces participated in the attacks, London sources revealed.

Hull Is Bombed

The British planes, attacking in waves, dropped their loads of high explosive and incendiary bombs on German ships and docks in assaults that lasted several hours. Severe damage and a number of large fires were caused. It was stated.
German raiders likewise attacking in relays, carried out a fierce attack on Hull, dropping many high explosives and incendiaries that caused considerable property damage.

U. S. MAY SEEK TO PERSUADE EIRE TO GRANT BASES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 19.—There were indications today that the United States government may soon join Great Britain in attempting to persuade Eire to grant the British naval bases in return for American food and defense supplies.
Efforts to swing Eire into line as a more active partner of Great Britain in the European conflict have been made in connection with the visit to this country of Frank Aiken, Irish minister for the coordination of defense.
Aiken is scheduled to arrive in Washington today. He is coming to the capital to discuss with the American government the possibility of purchasing large quantities of wheat as well as weapons to defend Eire's neutrality in the European conflict.

Plan For Home Guard in Pennsylvania

Move Approved By Legislature

Expect Authorizing Measure To Be Signed By Governor James At Once

DEFENSE COUNCILS ALSO AUTHORIZED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff

HARRISBURG, March 19.—Pennsylvania took a big step forward today in coordinating its defense activities with those of the federal government as Gov. Arthur H. James prepared to sign the Achtemann-Woodside bill creating state and local defense councils.

Simultaneously, the governor was expected to affix his signature to the Welsh-O'Neill bill authorizing the creation of a "home guard" to be known as the Pennsylvania reserve corps. The force will be headed by Maj. Gen. Robert M. Vail, acting adjutant general, and will replace the National Guard units while they are in active service with the U. S. Army.

No Opposition

Both administration measures were enacted without opposition, both parties cooperating to expedite them through the legislature. The home guard bill was approved finally on Monday and signed by House and Senate leaders yesterday, shortly before the Senate passed the House-approved defense council bill.

The "home guard" bill makes little change in the powers already held by the governor under previous acts approved in 1917 and 1937 but tends to clarify them in the light of present-day conditions. Governor James has already taken the initial steps in forming a home defense group, expected to comprise approximately 3,000 men, with special emphasis to be placed on air raid observation and precaution. All enlistments will be voluntary and without pay.

Under the companion defense measure a state council will be established by the governor composed of all state elective officials, legislative heads of the House and Senate and three citizens. Local councils would be created to cooperate with the state council and with the national defense council, with the same emphasis on air raid observation and precaution. A $25,000 appropriation is provided in the bill for expenses for the remainder of this biennium.

During the Civil War, conscientious objectors could buy their way out of the U. S. Army for $300.

First-night tabulations showed Chairman J. Preston Flaherty, "Health" division leading Chairman Lee "New" Campbell's "Character" division. The Health group brought in 313 members and $1,607.50; Campbell's brought in 234 members and $237.50 in cash.

General Secretary Robert L. Meermans didn't take up much speaking, either, but he said he had "a complement you fellows for this showing tonight."

Two Gifts Total $600

Perhaps the evening's grand slam came when Team Capt. John A. Butler, one of Flaherty's aides, reported that his group had already signed up 55 men and collected $723 in cash. But Butler explained that two of New Castle's civil leaders had accounted for $600 of that sum—Fred L. Rantz, benefactor of the association in past drives and donor of Camp Fred L. Rantz, gave $500, and James M. Smith, Sr., head of Shengora Pottery, gave $100.

Meermans and his staff aides, Boys' Work Director John D. Thompson and Physical Director William Winter, have been handling the mechanics of the drive, patterned after a "Turnpike" building project. Workers are building a "dream highway" on paper.

Invitation last night was given by Thomas H. Hartman, one of several "Y" directors serving on campaign teams.

Last night's pleasingly surprising team reports follow:

CHARACTER DIVISION

Lee (New) Campbell, Chairman
Capt. George E. Lyon, 5 members and $59 cash; J. Clyde Giffalan, 16 and $1; Robert Rantz, 26 and $450; Paul G. Dingley, 3 and $850; Joe Solomon, 19 and $9; Robert M. Strickler, Jr., 30 and $73; William Marousis, 10 and $1650; J. Abraham, 31 and $12; Alice Samuels, 13 and $4; C. LeMar Hollar, 39 and $2750; Bill Andrews, 42 and $2750. HOUSE IS READY TO ADOPT SEVEN BILLION AID BILL administration sources insisted that no steps to create a convoy system have been taken as yet.

While the House faces a battle over amendments to the funds bill, opposition apparently has virtually collapsed after one day of debate. Minority Leader Martin is expected to vote for the bill.

I cannot say definitely until I see what shape the bill is in after amendments are considered, but I probably shall vote for it," Martin said.

Chief Amendments Urged

Chief amendments to be urged are:

Proposal by Rep. Lambertson (R-Kan.), to cut the amount to $5,000,000,000; amendment by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), requiring the President to obtain all British security possible, an amendment striking out a fund of $200,000,000 for repair and outfitting of warships or other vessels in American ports; one restricting use of appropriations to a two-year period instead of 27 months.

Many Republicans followed the lead of Rep. Taber, N. Y., ranking Republican on the appropriations committee, who said that the fund should be given to the President.

"The passage of the lend-lease authorization bill determines the policy," said Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.). "We have no choice in the matter unless we want to quarrel with whether the President, acting on the advice of army and navy officials, knows best how to carry out that policy."

Economically in War

"We are economically in the war," declared Rep. Michener (R-Mich.). "The shooting will begin when Hitler so determines. In these circumstances I conceive it to be my duty to go along with the estimates submitted to us."

Administration speakers and foes of the bill disagreed violently on the question of whether America is heading into war.

With consideration of the bill, new demands arose for levying of taxes to safeguard the nation's financial structure.

Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.), called upon the ways and means committee to report a new tax bill.

"If sacrifices are to be made, as the President says, let them come from the present generation and not from the baby's bank," Rep. Mundt declared. "I hope a bill will be brought in to prevent war profiteering and let the present generation pay the bills."

BRITISH AND NAZI BOMBERS TRADE BLOWS LAST NIGHT

terdard and Oldenburg, during which the R. A. F. shivered bombs on docks, shipyards, industrial areas and other targets.

EDITOR'S NOTE: A Berlin announcement today said British planes last night attacked two northern German seaports, damaging residential areas slightly.

Details of the new British raids were expected to be announced as soon as full reports were received.

Late this morning a British Hurricane fighter shot down a German bomber off the east Anglian coast.

One English northeast coastal town was subjected to a heavy attack by Nazi night raiders and many houses were damaged. But the air ministry stated that casualties were not unduly heavy.

A second northeast coast town was raided by bombers that dropped high explosives and incendiaries hitting a hospital, theatre, dance hall and houses. Several persons were trapped and killed and others were injured.

Berlin Report

Berlin, March 19.—Several hundred German bombers pounded the British seaport of Hull during the night, heavily bombing important objectives on the water front, it was announced today.

Despite fog and mist, the high command said, German airmen observed "extensive effects" of the raid.

In addition, it was stated, two long-distance reconnaissance planes this morning attacked a huge British convoy of 35 armed merchant ships and six destroyers in the Atlantic west of Ireland.

The planes sank one merchant vessel of 5,000 to 8,000 tons, the announcement claimed, and badly damaged a 2,000 vessel, which was listing heavily.

Food Industry

Earners Employed In Food ManufacturingPRODUCTS VALUED
AT OVER $714,156,700

HARRISBURG, March 19.—Pennsylvania, with 3,469 industries manufacturing food and kindred products valued in 1939 at $714,156,700, produces about 10 per cent of the nation's food supply, according to the state department of commerce.

Approximately 93,000 wage earners are employed in the manufacture of bakery products, slaughtering and meat packing, sugar refining, beverages, chocolate and cocoa products, confectionery, ice cream, canned and preserved goods, grist mill products, manufactured ice, beer and soft drinks. Total payroll in this industry in Pennsylvania is $118,740,900.

By far the largest portion of the retail dollar for any of the 11 classifications representing business groups, was the food group with 24.2 cents. In other words, food stores draw a larger part of the retail dollar than any other single group. The food group tabulation did not include eating or drinking places, or general stores that carry food. General merchandise took the next largest share, getting 13.5 cents of each dollar, while automotive, which accounts for 13.2 cents of every dollar, was third.

Not only is Pennsylvania a large producer in the food industry, but it is also a large consumer. Wholesale and retail food outlets in Pennsylvania number 76,634.

In 1940, retail sales through all food outlets in the country were estimated at $10,700,000,000 or nearly a half billion above the 1939 figure. With higher buying power, increased defense spending and re-employment in private industry, the year 1941 is expected to see not only greater consumption, but more buying of higher quality foods.

during the Lenten season at the corner of North Mill and East Falk streets.

The longest county bridge in the county is the Cherry street bridge with a length of 437 feet and the shortest is the Russell bridge at Ehon Valley with a length of 50 feet.

Many of the bridges are but sixteen feet wide with the East Washington street bridge the widest with 60 feet.

There are two covered bridges in the list, the one at McConnell's Mills and the other the Banks bridge in Wilmington township.

One bridge, the Cherry street bridge is badly in need of repairs and will be attended to this summer.

The Ferris Engineering Company has made a preliminary survey and believes the bridge can be repaired.

A further inspection will be made to determine what is needed to put the bridge into safe condition.

All the other bridges in the county, aside from those maintained by the county are either state or township bridges.

Miss Dorothy Davis, a clerk in the county commissioners' office, is showing rapid improvement after a recent automobile accident and it is anticipated she will be back at work shortly. Her friends in the court house hope so.

Legion Banquet Plans Furthered

District Leaders Meet In Zelenople On National Commander's Banquet Plans

RECORD THROG
WILL BE PRESENT

Following a meeting of American Legion leaders from the 26th District at Zelenople last evening, in the interests of the annual national commander's banquet, which will take place at The Cathedral here, Tuesday evening, April 1, General Chairman Chester C. Sweeney, of this city, stated today that indications point to the largest attendance at the banquet in the history of the organization.

Members of the Beaver and Butler County committees who had representatives present both stated that the advance sale of tickets in the two districts was far ahead of last year, while reports for additional requests for tickets have been received from Youngstown and Sharon.

Members of the visitation committee will attend a big Legion celebration in Mercer, Friday evening, when Mercer post will observe the birthday of the Legion. Visits will also be made to the Beaver County committee meeting Friday evening, and at Warsaw, O.

The banquet and program is open to the public. Commander C. C. Sweeney announced today, but warned that local residents who expect to attend had better get their tickets at once, as the supply is limited and the demand from the outside is increasing each day, so that the reservations will undoubtedly be closed earlier this year than in the past. National Commander Milo J. Warner, who will be the guest of honor on the occasion, will be greeted by a huge throng of distinguished Legionnaires from Pennsylvania and surrounding states, eager to learn of conditions in England and Europe, from whence he returned only two weeks ago.

Believe Bremen Sabotage Victim

(International News Service)
LONDON, March 19.—Hinting strongly at sabotage, an Exchange Telegraph (British) dispatch from Gothenburg said today that the flames which swept the $20,000,000 German luxury liner Bremen totally destroyed the vessel.

Quoting a Berlin dispatch to the Göteborg Posten, Exchange Telegraph said the flames that ruined the Bremen, once pride of the German merchant fleet, were not the result of an accident.

The accident theory was ruled out, the dispatch said, because fires broke out simultaneously at several points aboard the huge liner.

The Great Game Of Politics

"speed, speed, speed." Altogether, it was a candid, able speech in which no major flaw could be found. However, listening to the President that night, it seemed difficult to believe that realistic persons, informed as to conditions here, could help wish that those rounded and graceful sentences, which rolled so competently from his tongue could be matched by equal competency in action. That is the great point—they are not.

THE PRESIDENT calls for speed as the vital thing—and so it is. Yet an awful lot of valuable time has already been lost, because, rejecting advice he declined to delegate power and name a single responsible head for the defense organization. First, he set up a commission with no head, and that hardly functioned at all. Now he has set up one with two heads, which functions, but not with speed, efficiency or economy. Almost any day now he is expected to supplant this dual-headed monstrosity with a super-Cabinet or board—but he still shies away from the logical and tested one-man head.

HE calls for speed, but his own organization interferes with speed, creates delay. Progress, of course, is being made. A vast number of contracts have been let. We are beginning to "produce on a large scale. But no impartial and poised person will deny that we could produce much more at far greater speed if the President had listened to the "voice of experience" instead of insisting on doing things in his own untried and impractical way.

7TH MONTH BABY BETTER THAN 8TH MONTH INFANT? IT'S A MYTH.

One of the oldest of all superstitions that is encountered by a physician is the belief that a seven-month baby has a better chance of survival than one born in the eighth month of pregnancy.

There is a fairly obvious explanation for most folk superstitions, but the basis of this one eludes me. And it is truly surprising now generally it is believed even today. I have had well read, well informed people tell it to me. Once even a doctor told me he had never seen an eighth month baby live. When I challenged this by asking him how many of them he had seen die, he studied a minute, then confessed he had only seen one of them. He, too, had been taken in by the superstition.

Not very long ago I was called as a consultant in the case of a woman delivered of a baby in her eighth month. The baby was alright, but the mother was in a bad mental state because her mother had told her that an eighth month baby wouldn't live. The young doctor who was handling the case called me in to help him reassure the mother.

Imagine such a silly superstition being allowed to upset a grown woman with a baby! Usually superstitions are harmless but sometimes they aren't simply ridiculous commentaries on the credulity of humans. They are downright dangerous, as the case cited above shows.

Everyone of the approximately nine months between the conception and birth normally represents an important stage of progress in development of the child. There is no lagging period. In the seventh month, or a little before, the child is completely formed, and then through the succeeding weeks or days, until birth occurs, the baby is storing up strength and energy against the day when his nourishment will no longer be furnished him through his mother and he must be a separate being.

If birth occurs at seven months, he has little strength and energy accumulated. If he is born the eighth month, he has some reserve vitality stored, and obviously has just that much better chance of recovering. In brief, the later in pregnancy the child is born, the better.

My father who was a doctor, had a very blunt way of talking down the superstition referred to above. He would say, "If a loaf of bread is supposed to bake in the oven 90 minutes, it will be a lot nearer done at 80 minutes than it will be at 70."

Of course, it is by no means certain that birth will occur in the ninth month of pregnancy, if nothing disturbs the foetus before then. There are a number of cases of delivery more than 300 days after conception.

Tomorrow: More Birth Superstitions.

New Castle Men Missed Wreck

Bad Weather Prevented Trip To Work At Ravenna On Tuesday

On account of the severe cold and inclement weather of Tuesday morning, Ralph Reider of Harrison street, and father-in-law Eugene Callahan, and two sons Eugene, Jr., and Edward Callahan of 641 South Ray street, decided not to go to Ravenna, O., where they are employed, therefore were not passengers on the Erie railroad commuters train between Youngstown and Ravenna, O., which was wrecked Tuesday morning, and over 100 injured.

Fred Reider of 1208 Dushane street and Eddie Kreitzer of East Brook road went to Ravenna on Tuesday morning by automobile. Mr. Reider, hearing of the wreck, and believing that his son Ralph Reider and his companions were among the injured, rushed to the project hospital to try and find his son.

Not being able to locate Ralph or any of his companions, Fred Reider and Kreitzer dashed to Youngstown, where they were supposed to have taken the train for Ravenna. They went to the parking lot used by them each day, and were informed that they had not come in that morning. Then they rushed home here and found that they had not left here and were safe and sound.

Seven hundred species of mushrooms have been proved edible, and authorities claim that many others will doubtless be proved fit for food.

Work Progresses Despite Weather

Building Operations Continue
At Work Experience Center At Cunningham Park

On National Youth Administration projects No. 720-23-175, which is the New Castle Boys Work Experience Center located at Cunningham Park, Tuesday, the laying of cement blocks, to complete the foundations for the truss type steel buildings and the garage, had been commenced, but is delayed on account of the intense cold weather.

On the last four buildings erected, the heavy roofing paper has been placed.

John Frazier, construction superintendent, states that the carpenters are busy working on the interior of the buildings, preparatory to placing plywood walls and ceilings. Electricians have completed the rough wiring in these buildings, to enable the carpenters to put on the wall and ceiling board.

The 4700 feet of 6 and 8 inch tile sewer pipe, is now on the site, waiting the arrival of the power shovel to dig the trenches.

Plumbing supplies are also arriving, and this work on the project will soon commence.

Boys are prime painting the window sashes, and as soon as weather permits, they will begin painting the buildings under the supervision of qualified painters.

Two hundred and forty N. Y. A. boys are assigned to this project, who are allowed sixty working hours per month, which gives work to 50 to 75 boys each working day, weather permitting. These boys are selected for the different jobs, from their own various qualifications.

George Thompson, timekeeper, keeps an occupational list, showing jobs the boys are best adapted to.

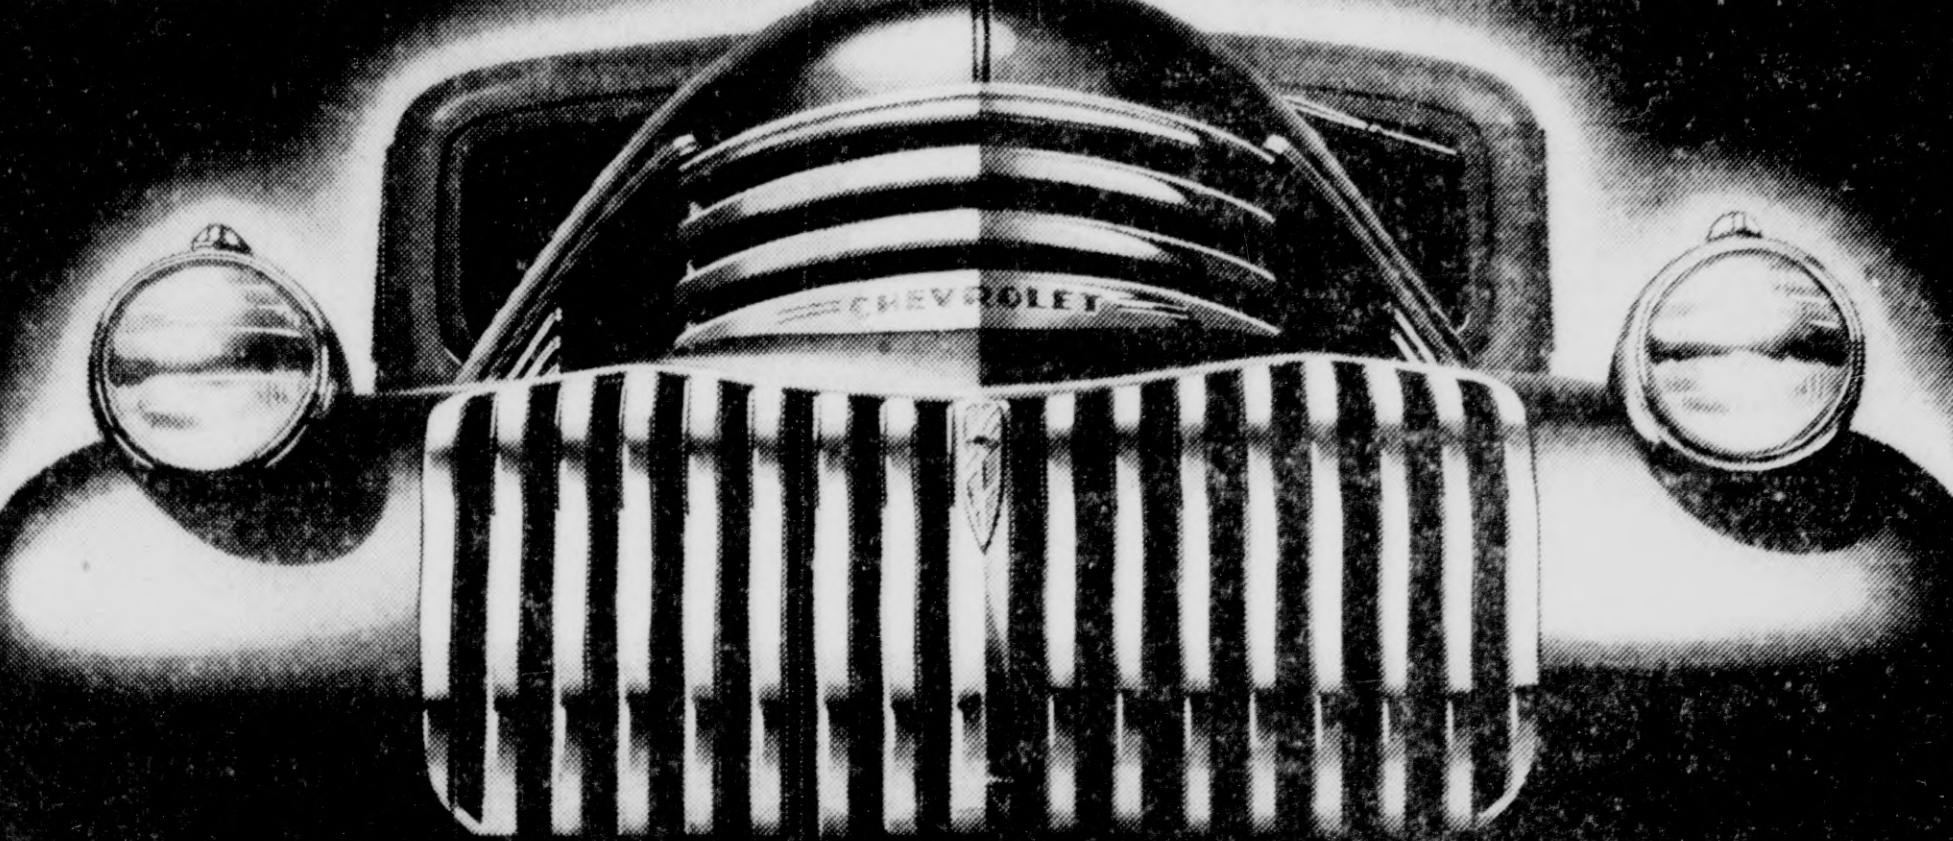

Since the commencement of this project, several of the boys have been placed in private employment.

American Correspondent Takes Up Big American Bomber In England

Editor's Note: This is a story by Anthony Billingham, International News Service war correspondent, describing his experiences in taking up a big American-made Lockheed-Hudson bomber on a practice flight over the English channel and his observations at one of the biggest and most modern R. A. F. training bases in England.

By ANTHONY BILLINGHAM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

AN R. A. F. AIRPORT, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, March 19.—The sharp, shattering melody of the roar of dozens of warping up motors was rumbling all around us, so the young flight leader beside me had to shout:

"Ever fly a plane?" he yelled into my ear.

"Yes," I yelled back, "but not a great deal. I've taken them off and flown them a bit. But, I've never landed one."

"Climb in, then," he yelled, "and get into the pilot's seat."

"Like playing 'follow the leader'?" we scrambled one after another into the American Lockheed-Hudson bomber. I felt my way gingerly along the narrow ledge bordering the rear machine-gunner's drop door in the belly of the ship, past the bomb racks, flares and other equipment which lines the walls, filling every available space in the bomber.

Gunners Take Places

The forward machine gunner crawled down into his little hole in the nose of the ship, and the rear gunner climbed into his glass turret up on top. We all adjusted our headsets and the flight leader began the lengthy job of carefully double-checking every instrument. These British pilots may be young in years but they are old in experience. They leave nothing to chance.

When I remarked about this, the pilot said:

"Listen, the last flier that took a chance in this war, is now flying a harp," he grinned. "Me, I prefer a Hudson."

The engines were finally warmed to the young man's satisfaction and he signalled the ground crew to keep clear.

"There's a cross-wind that is pretty strong so I'll handle the throttles and help you steady her. Sometimes it's a bit difficult for the runway is a bit narrow," he told me.

Off we went, down the long strip of concrete. The tail came up and the pilot pushed a button which sent the little rear wheel scuttling into its housing.

"Now watch this baby. It will fly itself off. You can even take your hands off the wheel," he said admiringly.

Takes Off Easily

The Hudson took off easily, twisting a bit in the strong wind, and we began climbing rapidly.

"Take her up high," I was told. "We're making a 'B' flight." He pushed some more buttons and the little green lights indicating the wheels were down changed from green to red, one after the other. We were on our way, well out over the water now, and still climbing.

The great airport, which the fat wheels of the Hudson had just spurred, could be fittingly termed "the melting pot of British aviation." It is principally conducted as a training center. Pilots from the Netherlands, Poland, Norway, France and Canada come here for their conversion training—meaning that they are taught coastal defense tactics and work, and how to fly the American Hudson.

Again nothing is left to chance. These pilots may have thousands of hours in the air but before they are allowed on patrol in a Hudson, they must be completely familiar with this machine. The safety of an entire convoy could depend on this single factor.

Well Defended

The base is huge and as yet only partly developed. It is so big and well defended that German planes usually give it a wide berth. The day I arrived, however, two Jerry bombers were reported to be circling over the ocean some miles away. Whether they were hoping for a chance to slip up on some merchant shipping, waiting for directions from home, or merely trying to make up their minds to attack, the airport will never know. As soon as the report came in, everyone ran laughing to their ships, but by the time they arrived on the scene, nothing was to be observed except two tiny dots, rapidly becoming smaller in the direction of Berlin.

In addition to the conversion courses, this base teaches radio and wireless, photography, navigation and bombing. It also instructs beginner pilots, as well as those merely taking the conversion courses.

The men for the Hudsons are trained together as a crew and the two pilots are each qualified navigators. There is no co-pilot, although one of the pilots captains the ship.

Two types of flights are scheduled. "A" flight is a purely instructional flight while "B" flight is one in which the graduated pilot makes a routine patrol over a designated area. All up and down the coast, patrols set out individually at a given time, each plane having its own section to cover. The planes fly out on one leg of a square or triangle and back upon another.

The pilots of these ships are so efficient that they often fly to solitary ships 200 or 300 miles at sea, and locate these vessels without difficulty. A large part of the work is bringing convoys safely to port.

Engineers Meet Tuesday Night

Hear Vice President Of Methods Engineering Council At Dinner

Members of Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society last night learned much about the fast-developing science of "motion study," being employed by industry to determine how to eliminate or reduce fatigue a workman suffers at his plant bench or machine.

To the audience of industrial executives, plant foremen and others who heard E. I. BeMent, vice president of Methods Engineering Council, the explanations and demonstrations were enlightening.

BeMent spoke following the society's dinner in The Castleton. He was introduced by Edward L. Davine, chairman of the society's program committee.

Ellwood City plants sent a large delegation, as did the Foremen's Association of Johnson Bronze Co. Here most of the industrial firms had representatives in attendance.

President Joseph B. Lasky speaking briefly, told the group what the society's aims and objects are. He called for a larger membership representation on the part of industries, and cited its advantages.

The society plans another dinner on April 14, when M. H. Maxwell, of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will speak.

Wolves club members assembled at The Castleton, Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, at which time a full course dinner was enjoyed, followed by the regular business meeting.

Anthony N. Carbon, president of the group, opened activities with brief remarks, and expressed appreciation to the members for their responses and cooperation at the recent bereavement in the family of one of the Wolves members.

Paul J. Pailla, program chairman, took charge later and introduced the guest speaker, Howard Ausem, a representative of a tobacco company, who spoke on the "Story Of Tobacco" and later showed motion pictures in accordance with his talk.

Two members, Mike Fazzone and Frank Summers were in attendance following an absence while vacationing in Florida. Members of the club gathered in a local bowling alley later, where they enjoyed a period of recreation. April 8, is the date scheduled for the next meeting.

McBride Post To Meet This Evening

V. F. W. Members Getting Ready To Occupy New Home On Grant Street

Corp. Harry L. McBride Post No. 322, V. F. W., will have an important meeting in the post rooms in the Legion home building this evening at 8 o'clock.

Commander Thomas McNicholas states that work is progressing in fine shape on the remodeling of the post home recently given them by the Foltz and Brown heirs, and that it is expected to be able to occupy the home the first of the month. The first meeting in the new quarters will probably take place April 2.

Lion 'Tail Twister' Party Is Planned

New Castle Lions are looking forward to a "Tail Twisters" party the club will hold early in April. President James G. Leslie said today.

Tail twister happens to be an officer who helps generate merriment in every Lions club, and Harding Thayer fills the post here. He and several former "twisters" got their heads together and arranged the affair.

Yesterday the Lions heard one of their own members, R. Don Wilson speak on a recent trip through the South. The club lunched in The Castleton.

The use of paper is forbidden in German schools, unless it is unavoidable.

Story Of Timiest Radio Announcer

Began Commercial Career As Bell Hop In New York Hotel At 15 Years

Johnny Roventini started his commercial career as a bell hop in a New York hotel at the tender age of 15, and now, at 29, he's still a call boy but with a vengeance and under just slightly different circumstances. For Johnny Roventini is the world famous Johnny the "Call Boy" master of ceremonies and ambassador of good will on three of the PHILIP MORRIS radio programs.

Still in the red uniform and heavy brass buttons, Johnny has had an extremely full and exciting life since those first hotel days. Discovered one day by an "ever searching" for news and original ideas, advertising agency head, Johnny has become one of the top figures of radio and has played a very important part in the tremendous success of his sponsor. So much a part that he has won for himself a life time contract.

Johnny was born 29 years ago in Brooklyn, N. Y., and although his entire family is of normal size, he never grew more than his 43 inches or his 48 pounds. Other than that, Johnny is just exactly like any other ambitious young man. He likes his work and is ever anxious to learn. He likes his play, too. Baseball is his favorite sport and also roots for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He is an expert at hunting, having a specially constructed double-barreled shotgun. His pet hobby is short wave radio, even in the point of building his own set and then taking them apart and building a better one. He is extremely interested in photography and it is said he has had great success in this line. He used to have to stand on a high platform in order to reach his microphone, but now he has a special "mike" built to his measure. It is the only one of its kind in existence. Johnny is also a Kentucky Colonel, and Admiral of the Flagship Fleet.

Neshannock Post To Meet Thursday

Activities Of New V. F. W. Post Will Be Discussed At Post Meeting

Neshannock Post, No. 315, V. F. W., will meet in the post rooms on East Washington street, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when a number of important matters will come up for discussion and action. The committee on junior activities has been extremely busy of late, and the Sons of the V. F. W. Corps of the post is well on the way to become an outstanding junior organization.

The rifle range committee will also have an interesting report to make at this meeting.

The Post's veteran service bureau is taking care of a heavy case load, the service officer of the post being most energetic in his duties, and the post is taking care of a large number of cases of men who are not post members.

TITANS READY FOR NEW YORK TOURNEY TONIGHT

Westminster Hopes For Victory Over Long Island Team

Titans In Second Contest Of Evening In Madison Square Garden

Team In Good Shape—Making Debut In Metro Tourney

By CHAS. A. LANDOLF (News Special Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 19.—Before a sell-out gallery of 18,000 fans, Westminster College makes its opening bid for the Metropolitan basketball tournament crown tonight, matching hoop shots with mighty Long Island University in Madison Square Garden.

The physically-fit Titans dribble onto the hardwood a 7-5 underdog.

The crucial test follows the Seton Hall-Rhode Island game and will start at about 9:45 o'clock.

Complete Drills

The towering Titans staged their final practice session Tuesday morning in the famous Manhattan sports palace. The Pennsylvanians devoted considerable time acquainting themselves with the portable hardwood pitched in the center of the auditorium. The shatter-proof glass backboards, which have hampered most visiting flipping brigades, didn't affect the Titans' marksmanship to a noticeable extent.

After firing away at the rims for sometime, Coach Grover Washabaugh sent his proteges through a light session. Against the second stringers, the varsity performed smoothly, passing, cutting and blocking meticulously. Offense was stressed more than defense.

Pleased With Condition
At the conclusion of the rehearsal, Coach Washabaugh stated that he is pleased with the condition and showing of his team. The genial tutor is particularly jubilant over the recovery of Charles "Buzz" Ridd, the team's spark plug, who hasn't started a game since way back in February 15.

During the workout, Ridd displayed his old time form, seemingly injecting additional pep and smoothness, both on defense and offense. The remainder of the squad is in fine fettle, anxiously awaiting the start of the struggle.

Coach Washabaugh today announced that he will start Lee Fox and "Buzz" Ridd at forward; Stan Wask at center, and Dale Dummire and Joe Spak at the sentinel posts. Fred Miller, flimsy sophomore, will probably see considerable action, the coach hinted.

Hard Opponent

The Titans buck up against one of the speediest combinations in the collegiate world. Winners of 22 out of 24 the Long Islanders are in top form. "SI" Lobello, the team's scoring ace, is the key to the Blackbirds' attack. Beenders and Schwartz stack up as topnotch performers.

The Titans' foe appear favored to wind up in the final round, by Manhattan weissenheimers, who have installed the Bee-coached machine in the favorite role, 7-5.

A Westminster victory figures to springboard the New Wilmington five into the finals. The Titans face the winner of the Seton Hall-Rhode Island tussle as they step by Long Island.

Duquesne Loses To Ohio Quintet

Score Is 55 To 40 In Madison Square Garden Game, Five Dukes Play Final Game

OHIO BOYS SET SCORING RECORDS

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, March 19.—The mighty Dukes of Duquesne university, located in Pittsburgh, last night saw their "dreams" for national basketball supremacy wind up in gloom at the hands of a hard fighting Ohio university quintet, 55 to 40, at the Madison Square Garden floor last night in the first of the games in the fourth annual metropolitan invitation games.

Heavy favorites among the sport writers and hundreds of fans, the Dukes simply could not get their offensive attack under way after the first half. Furthermore, the Dukes didn't do much about stopping two young Ohioans, Baumholtz and Ott, who set up tournament records by scoring 22 and 19 points respectively, the latter, Ott, making nine free throws good.

Dukes Lose Five

The Dukes had a nine-game winning streak until last night. It was the final collegiate effort for the following Duquesne players: Moe Becker, Eddie Milkovich, Lou Kasperik, Rudy Debnar and Paul Widowitz.

It was a see-saw, ding-dong ball game the first half, the score being tied six times, and at the half the Duquesne team led, 26 to 24. The Ohioans assumed the lead early in the second half and never gave it up as they piled in point after point.

Lester "Bus" Reiber, former New Castle high star, saw service with the Dukes as a sub for Widowitz. He did not figure in the scoring, however.

Finish Training For Friday Night Fight

Abe Simon Claims Joe Louis Reputation Doesn't Feaze Him

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 19.—Big Abe Simon and Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis today were to wind up their sparring workouts and taper off tomorrow with light gym work in preparation for their 20-round title fight in Olympia Friday night.

Simon, who is expected to go into the ring weighing about 250 pounds, was quite confident that he could take the title away from Louis.

"I'll stab Joe on the nose with my left about five or six times in a row—nobody has ever tried that—I mean really tried to fight him—they've all scared of his reputation as a puncher," confided Abe.

WITH TITANS IN NEW YORK

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, March 19.—Basketball is the most important thing in the world this week to the members of the Westminster College squad, here for the national playoffs in Madison Square Garden, but it isn't everything.

Since arriving here Sunday night the team has done a lot of huddling with Coach Grover C. Washabaugh but there has been time for some enjoyment beside that.

The team members have been enjoying the sights of the nation's metropolis, getting plenty of sleep and meals that are designed to keep them fit rather than fat. Breakfast is at ten o'clock and consists of bacon and eggs, cereal, fruit juice, and toast. Dinner is at four and consists of steak, baked potatoes, string beans, toast, tea and ice cream. The dead line for the bed is at eleven o'clock.

In the meantime Coach Washabaugh has been busy. On Tuesday he attended the Sports Writers Association luncheon in the Hotel Lincoln at 12:30. On Monday afternoon he was on a sports broadcast from Station WOR. On Thursday noon he attends a luncheon for the tournament coaches in the Piccadilly Hotel and on Saturday he attends a meeting of the Eastern Collegiate Basketball Coaches Association at Toots Shor's restaurant. Dr. H. C. Carlson of the University of Pittsburgh will be the speaker.

At seven o'clock Thursday night the team will be guests at Fred Waring's broadcast and at eight thirty will be guests of the tournament committee at Hellzapoppin'. Sometime during the day the team will tour the city as guests of the tournament association.

Just now the Titans remind you of a spirited race horse before a big race. They're a trifle nervous but it's not the nervousness of one afraid of the nervousness of an outfit that knows it is going to give a good account of itself and wants to get going.

If Westminster defeats Long Island University tonight the team may get to fly home. If they lose Coach Washabaugh has been heard to mumble in his whiskers that he will walk home. It's a tough time of year to hike those mountains and the team insists he won't have to try it.

Notes pitched together in Madison Square Garden while Westminster staged its final drill for the Long Island game:—

Ned Irish, the ex-typewriter jockey who brought collegiate basketball to the Garden, must be New York's most accommodating personality. The good-looking Ned spent all of an hour with your scribe, explaining the ins and outs of the tourney. He has made complete arrangements so that we can "cover" the tourney, placing us in the choicest seat in the arena.

The Titans held a private pep meeting Tuesday afternoon in Coach Washabaugh's room. The high-spirited cagers joined hands and assured all and sundry that Westminster may lose but that she will not be out-fought. During the secret pow-wow, the squad, Coach Washabaugh and Assistant Coach Dave M. Boyd completed mapping out tactics for tonight's game. The consensus of opinion among the squad is that the Titans will emerge victorious.

Our roomie, Norman Rose, student manager, is as busy as a Broadway traffic gardener. All he does is awaken the boys on time, arrange for breakfast, dinner, practice sessions, direct the hauling of basketball equipment, guard the dressing room, hand out equipment and many other chores too numerous to mention. Rose Ellis, faculty manager, is also busy.

Westminster is occupying the stars' dressing room. Such well known celebrities as Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Senja Heinie, the skating beauty, have used the room. Dead Pan Joe insists on what he calls "the lucky room." Stan Wask will serve as captain tonight. Each member of the varsity gets a shot at the job. The Titans have been dubbed as the darkhorse of the tourney.

Bradford High defeated Knox (International News Service)
KANE, Pa., March 19.—Bradford high school ruled today as District 9 basketball champions, defeating Knox high 31 to 35 here last night. Marysville defeated Wilcox 32 to 28, for the district class B title.

Church Golfers Planning Banquet
The New Castle Church Golf League executive committee held a meeting last night at the McGill store on Grant street and discussed the coming spring banquet of the league to be held at a place to be chosen later, the date to be Thursday, April 24. Mont McGill, president of the league, presided over the meeting.

Another meeting of the league captains and officials will be held in the McGill store next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of getting the league details set for the grand opening just as soon as the weather breaks.

There is a strong possibility that Epworth will join the league this year in place of the St. Joseph's team. It was suggested that maybe the three East Side churches together: Epworth, Third U. P. and Second U. P. could put a combined team in the league in the event that Epworth could not secure enough players.

WEST POINT—Army's basketball team has four captains on its roster: Dick Reinhold, basketball captain; John Guckeyson, soccer captain; Ray Murphy, football captain, and Jack Norton, first captain of the corps of cadets.

Gene Flathmann, Navy's 250-pound tackle, aspires to play in the backfield. He has speed and is agile enough but the line coaches won't let him get away.

Gersons Ex-Highs To Play Sunday

The Gerson basketball team in order to keep in shape to play the Old Furnace team in a class A city-county basketball tourney game, have booked the Junior Ex-Highs Stars for a game next Sunday at the Arena floor it was announced today by Manager Walter Perch.

The Gersons disposed of the Gist Collegians in the tourney the other evening and are heavy favorites to upset the Old Furnace quintet next Monday night.

Class B Games Draw Big Crowd

Bessemer Jrs., New Castle Indies And Carm A. C. Win On Tuesday Night

CARM A. C. GIVES MUSTANGS SURPRISE

Before a well filled house last night three class B games were run off in the four-h annual city-county basketball tourney at the Washington High floor.

In the first game the Bessemer Jrs. won from the Saxons 29 to 22 to gain the right to meet the Indies tonight. At the half the Bessemers led 18 to 9. The scoring standouts in the game were Summers, Lytle and Lang.

Indies Defeat Plaingrove

The New Castle Indies in the second game defeated the Plaingrove Boosters 42 to 24 with DeLillo, Cooper, Alferra and Reese the scoring stars of the battle. At the half the Indies led 19 to 18.

The third game found the Carm A. C. winning again, this time taking the measure of the Mustangs of Mahoningtown 23 to 12. At the half the Carm led 14 to 7. Razzano was the Mustangs' best scorer, with McGary and Davies doing the bulk of the scoring for the West Siders.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Joe Savoldi, Bibber McCoy and Wadslaw Talun, heavyweight wrestlers, will be placed on the indefinite suspension list after they fulfill present contracts, according to action taken by the state athletic commission at Pittsburgh yesterday because of a reported "riot" at Oil City recently. It was heard here that McCoy and Savoldi threw Talun from the ring and that Stanislaus Zbyzsko, manager of Talun, who jumped into the ring to aid Talun also was tossed by McCoy and Savoldi from the ring. The commission also ordered Matchmaker F. A. Musgrave that any announcements concerning wrestling exhibitions not in keeping with the commission's policy of sanctioning wrestling or exhibitions will result in his suspension. The wrestlers were at Farrell last night. All of the officials who served here Monday night officiated there.

Harry Cooper shot a 68, four under par on number two course at Pinehurst yesterday. It was good enough to put him into a tie with Lloyd Mangrum for the first round of the North-South golf championship.

Tom Gallery of Los Angeles has signed Bob Pastor to fight Joe Louis in that city April 16. It will be their third meeting. Pastor outpointed Turkey Thompson Monday night in Los Angeles. Incidentally, we asked Tony Ross, former heavyweight who now resides in Pittsburgh what he thought of the coming Conn-Louis fight and Ross asserted he would not be surprised to see Conn win from the heavyweight champion. They will fight in New York June 19.

William Gruber, 19, Chicago, who fell during a race at Agua Caliente Sunday, is much improved in San Diego. Tiny Thompson will continue next year as manager of the Buffalo hockey club in the National league.

Chick Davies of Duquesne believes the Titans will beat Long Island U. in the Metropolitan Intercollegiate tourney in New York tonight. He believes Westminster's zone defense will puzzle L. I. U. Last year the Titans led the Blackbirds on the latter's court until the very last portion of the game, only to bow 47 to 42. Davies believes the Titans have learned sufficient about the Blackbirds to turn the tide this time. They play the second game tonight, Seton Hall being docketed against Rhode Island State in the first game.

Semi-Final Battle

The Falcons have also Eddie "Cash" Koszela, one of the best forwards in the city. Eugene "Gaby" Kendra, Marion "Muzzy" Sniezek and Bill Olson on their roster all basketball players of the highest caliber. The Falcons have been working out every night at the Miller avenue floor, getting in trim for their tournament test, which comes this evening.

The winner of the game tonight will play the winner of the Gerson-Old Furnace game in the Class A championship.

Wabash Bears To Play

The Wabash Bears tourney class B "darkhorses" will be out tonight to try for their second tourney win, having disposed of Mt. Jackson in the opening game of the tourney. Their opponents will be the K. Pulaski Reserves, conquerors of the Princeton team in a first-round battle.

The Bears have a strong lineup made up of several former New Castle stars, such as Ernie Adams, Ralph Tompkins, Orlando, and Patsy Piccirilli. The Pulaski Reserves are made up of former Union High stars, and have a class quintet. The Bears are favorites to cop this one, then must tangle with the Scorpions in a semi-final contest.

The tourney committee has had a lot of favorable comment on the way they have been conducting their tourney and the crowds have been very satisfactory to say the least. Tonight the largest crowd of the tourney to date is looked for.

In the third game tonight, the Bessemer Jrs. will battle the New Castle Indies in a Class B game. The Bessemer team has defeated the Saxons, Greys and the Saxons to reach the quarter-finals. The Indies have defeated the Plaingrove team and the Wilkes A. C. on their way to the top. This should be a hum-dinger of a game.

AMES, Iowa—Laverne Lewis, guard who will captain the Iowa State football team next season, is the seventh Iowan in succession elected to that honor.

The Chicago Cards and the Chicago Bears are the oldest (1914) in pro football. They have played 41 games.

Present Crop Of Boxers Fails To Impress "Jeff"

BURBANK, Calif., March 19.—James J. Jeffries, boss man of the heavyweights in the days when a wooden Indian meant a star store instead of a treasure hunt, is thriving to manage fighters. Turning a broad back on the professional ring, the former world's champion revealed his business sights at all times, the "underdog" of the sport.

"Yep! In through Jeffries maintained today at his Burbank home.

Y. M. C. A. Helping To Link Americas

How the National Young Men's Christian Association is laboring to cement friendly relations between the United States and Latin America is described in a new RKO-Pathe short, "Eyes on Brazil," photographed and narrated by Julien Bryan, famed for his motion pictures of the fall of Warsaw.

With totalitarian nations striving to exert economic and political influence over South American countries, the efforts of the Y. M. C. A. to bring an appreciation of the benefits of democracy to wealthy and populous Brazil become increasingly important. Outstanding among contributions of the Y. M. C. A. is the sponsorship of one of the few educational high schools in the country. Many of the native Brazilian Y. M. C. A. leaders were trained by the Y. M. C. A. at Springfield college in Massachusetts.

LONDON, March 19.—All male refugees from Nazi Germany who ever they may be scattered throughout the world soon will be called upon to take up arms for the British if present consultations in London materialize, International News Service learned today.

The thousands who have fled the wrath of Nazism will be given the opportunity to organize their own army or if they prefer to join the ranks of the British army.

This scheme to enlist the physical help of refugees for Britain now is the subject of consultations between the British government and the governments-in-exile in London of the various German conquered nations.

Enlarge "Free Forces"

The plan for enlargement of the "free forces" fighting at the side of Britain with the intention of freeing their homelands from the Nazi yoke was inspired by three factors: First, British arms production plus the materials soon to come from America in still greater quantity are sufficient to equip a huge new expeditionary army for an offensive against Germany. But while Britain has the arms, she lacks the manpower.

Therefore, European refugees in Britain and the rest of the "free world" will be called upon to do their bit for the freedom they now enjoy in their places of refuge.

Secondly, there is some feeling among the English that they are doing all the fighting and all the "bleeding" while thousands of refugees which have fled Europe or are in the process of fleeing still enjoy peace and prosperity. This was especially true of those who succeeded in reaching North or South America.

Source of Friction

Thirdly, the British and "Free governments" believe the thousands of refugees now sheltered in the United States might prove a source of friction in the face of the present American sacrifices to help the British and more so should America become directly involved in the war.

A delicate question arises, however, from the problem of how the various "free governments" can force their national males scattered throughout the world to return to England and fight if they are able-bodied or do British war work if they are incapacitated for fighting. This would require extensive international cooperation.

Another problem also was brought to light recently when Clement Attlee, the old Privy Seal, announced in Commons impending legislation to compel the allied nationals to join the British fighting forces. Refugees particularly the Poles and Czechs, it was then disclosed, were refusing to join their own forces now in Britain on the complaint that anti-semitism was prevalent among them. Their representatives threatened to air the matter thoroughly in Parliament but at the same time announced their willingness to join the British army if permitted.
